Dear Praying Friends,

In this letter, I would like to focus on the women's ministries I am involved with. Thanks so much for your prayers!

Melody

For about four months now, I have been discipling two new Christians. Their names are Lee Fong and Pay Jing. (pictured below) They prayed to receive Christ over a year ago and have no Christian relatives. Their families still pressure them to continue ancestor worship. Pray with me that these women would be growing in their understanding of the Scriptures and desire to know Christ in a deeper way.

Starting in a few months, we will be launching a new daytime women's cell group. Our hope is that the two women mentioned above, along with several others, will be a part of this new group. I covet your prayers as this cell group gets underway. Please pray for the right co-leader to work alongside me, good attendance, wisdom in choosing materials, and a suitable time to meet.

This semester, I have a total of six English students, all working women. Jillian, Carol and Emily are not believers. We use Bible stories for part of our English lessons. Pray that God's word will speak to their hearts and that they will one day put their faith in Christ. Carol's husband, Rex, a friend of Dug's, runs a tea shop.

Dug has had a number of opportunities to witness to Rex. But next month, he will be starting a new job and will be out of the country quite a bit. Pray that Dug and I can have continued contact with Rex and Carol and that God will work in their hearts.

Every other Friday, I have an English Bible study with three women. One of them often brings her daughter, Amy, along. Vicki and Amy do not know Christ, so please pray for their eyes to be opened to God's truth.

Our church is continuing to look for a suitable meeting place. Please pray with us for God's leading as we would like a long-term rental or an affordable building we can purchase.
